FARMER-LABOR
PARTY AND DRY
STRIVE TO UNITEBut Each Balks at Other's Platform.

BY PARKE BROWN.

The prohibitionists and the Farmer-Laborites, sought in vain yesterday for some means of consolidating their forces behind a single candidate.

Each was holding its quadrennial convention in Chicago. A conference committee consisting of three delegates from each convention spent hours discussing various forms of amalgamation, fusion and cooperation but apparently without substantial results. Most observers believed the effort doomed to failure, but it may be resumed this morning.

Dry Plank Balks Union.

The difficulty seemingly arose from each party's unwillingness to subordinate itself to the other. The drys, having had an early split of their own on a strong demand for the endorsement of Herbert Hoover, insisted that its platform must be almost a one plank affair. And the labor element of the Farmer-Labor forces were opposed to a dry declaration and insisted upon maintaining their party's individuality.

In both cases, also, there was an extreme shortage of candidates. So far as could be learned, neither group had a favorite for either its own nomination or for joint support in the event of some form of fusion. The only facts that were unmistakable were that the Farmer-Labor people were dead set against either Hoover or Gov. Al Smith, and that the situation was almost the same over in the prohibition camp, in spite of the activities of a large number of Hoover supporters.

Headed for Separate Ways.

The midnight prophets were agreed on only one thing—that today each party will go its own separate way with a candidate of its own. The Farmer-Labor talk of Senator Norris of Nebraska for its standard bearer was balked by a statement from Mr. Norris that in his view it was too late to start a third party movement this year.

The attendance at both conventions was disappointing. The prohibition roll call showed only 22 states represented and the Farmer-Labor list disclosed only ten states and the District of Columbia, the states being nearly all in the west and middle west. Its conventions of 1926 and 1924 were much more successful, and in years past the prohibition party used to muster thousands where this year it rallied only hundreds, the total attendance being estimated this time at about 200.

The situation in the Farmer-Labor party was made clear toward the close of the evening session at the Hotel Stevens when a plea for funds to pay expenses brought from the thirty-one persons present only $43.

Jefferson-Lincoln League.

This convention at its afternoon session had barely heard the keynote speech delivered by Mrs. Laura Hughes Lund of Chicago, who acted as temporary chairman, when the hand of the Jefferson-Lincoln league began to show itself. That league, an organization said to consist almost entirely of dry Democrats in Washington, D. C., had had a brief—and small—meeting the night before and urged that it join in the proposed fusion.

And it was William V. Mahoney of the national capital, executive secretary of the Jefferson-Lincolnians, who told the Farmer-Labor delegates that he had just received word from the prohibition meeting that a committee of three had been named to talk fusion. That message was said to have come from J. A. Edgerton, one of Washington, who had been acting as spokesman for the Jefferson-Lincoln league.

Permanent Chairman J. Edwin Henry of El Reno, Okla., then was authorized to name a similar committee of three including himself and he appointed Bert Martin of Denver, national secretary, and Mr. Mahoney. They conferred during the afternoon and evening with the prohibition committee consisting of L. C. Dale of California, Philip Bennett of Oklahoma and H. Ros Garber of Pittsburgh.

Annals Both Major Parties.

The keynote speech by Mrs. Lund, who has been active in the labor movement for several years, was decidedly admirably suited to the desires of her fellow delegates. She went after both the major parties with equal

POLAR TRAGEDY
CALLED BIGGEST
OF PRESENT AGELundborg Tells Grim
Story of Ice Camp.

KINGS BAY, Spitzbergen, July 10.—(AP)—The greatest tragedy in the history of modern polar exploration was summed up here today by Lieut. Einar-Paul Lundborg who spent twelve days on the ice with the five surviving refugees of the dirigible Italia.

Fifteen men accompanied Gen. Umberto Nobile in the big airship but the probable death list now totals 19. Nine rescuers have been lost. One member of the Italia crew was killed when the big ship crashed on the ice. Six others were carried away with the balloon part of the craft. Three started to walk to land. All these, Lundborg believes are dead.

Only Gen. Nobile Rescued.

Only the leader of the expedition has been brought out. The fate of the five other survivors, all sick and one with a broken leg, depends upon the ability of ice breakers to reach their camp on a floe off Cape Leach Smith.

Two aviators, the Russian Babushkin and Lieut. Lundborg, went through extreme peril in their rescue efforts. Babushkin was adrift five days in the polar seas, then managed to make his way back to the ice breaker Malignin. Lundborg was rescued by another Swedish flier, Lieut. Shyberg, who helped bring out Nobile.

Lieut. Lundborg said that when he landed on the day he rescued Gen. Nobile he came down on the ice some distance from the tent. He was met by Lieut. Alfredo Vigliotti, now in command of the group, and Giuseppe Biagi, the radio operator.

With great difficulty they stumbled over the ice floes to the tent. There Gen. Umberto Nobile, bearded and dirty, fell in his arms weeping from mingled joy and distress and embracing and kissing him.

Strain Tells on Italians.

Lieut. Lundborg said he would never forget this reception. The condition of the tent baffled description, and all of the Italians were more or less physically and mentally ill from strain, exposure, and lack of proper food.

The lieutenant said he kept the motors of his plane running in order to insure against trouble in restarting them. He and Lieut. Shyberg carried and dragged Nobile to the plane, placed him in it, and started back for Hinnelofen Strait. This return flight was uneventful.

After a brief stop at the base there Lieut. Lundborg went back to the camp alone, hoping to bring out two of the Italians on that trip. But when he landed the second time the skis on his plane cut through the soft snow and the machine turned over and was wrecked.

One of the most harrowing incidents of this epic of the north was recorded at this stage. Under the most painful difficulties and by dint of tremendous effort the able-bodied refugees had carried Natale Cecconi, the motor chief of the Italia who suffered a broken leg when the airship was wrecked, to the place where they expected the plane to land.

But with the aircraft smashed the sick and suffering engineer had to be left on one of the wings of the machine until the next day. Then the tent and the whole camp were moved to the plane and the shelter was spread over Cecconi's couch on the wing of the plane.

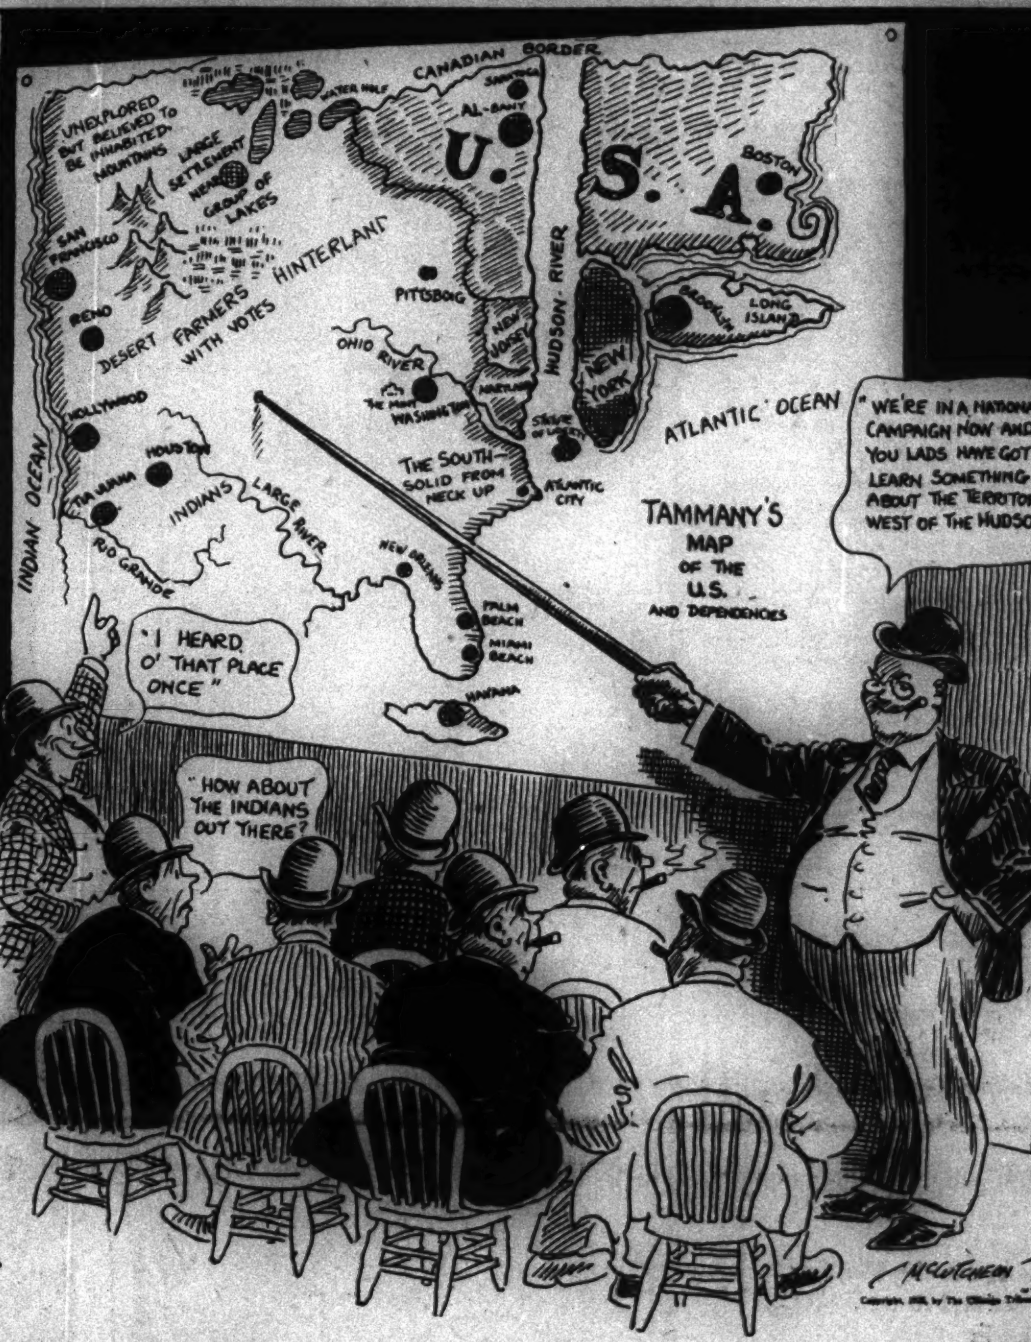

Lieut. Lundborg gave his vivid description of dreadful days of despair which followed. Fog prevailed daily and prevented rescue parties from seeing them. Shifting winds loosened the ice around the camp and the rising and falling of the floe added to the depressing misery of the party. The food began to run low and they were placed on short rations of chocolate, corned beef, biscuits and polar bear meat.

Believes Malmgren Is Dead.

The ice breaker Kransen was expected but failed to appear. To make their distress more acute, they could see Cape Leigh Smith on North East Land, only ten miles away, but miles of such risk and tragic possibility that they dared not attempt to cover them. "I am glad now," said Lieut. Lundborg.

MISSING BANKER
OFFICIALLY DEAD

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

BRUSSELS, Belgium, July 10.—Following testimony by Capt. Alfred Loewenstein's pilot and mechanic, the Belgian court which investigated his mysterious disappearance decided today that the famous Belgian financier officially is dead, but it is not possible to issue a death certificate. The certificate was held up, due to the uncertainty whether the banker fell into the English channel in French or English territorial waters.

The financier's family now is waiting for the body to be washed ashore, and has posted dozens of boats along both coasts, in addition to the boats still exploring the channel.

The court named Count Roger Vanderaetere-Ponthoux, who was Capt. Loewenstein's closest friend, as sequestrator of the property. The insurance companies who insured the financier refuse to pay until proof is given that he really is dead.

PARAGUAY AND BOLIVIA CLOSE TO STATE OF WAR

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

BUENOS AIRES, July 10.—A disastrous situation is alleged to exist on the Paraguayan-Bolivian frontier following a breakdown in the negotiations for a peaceful settlement of the boundary dispute by a commission which has been sitting at Buenos Aires for some time.

Despite emphatic denial by the president of the commission, it is insistently reported here that a virtual state of war exists on the Paraguayan-Bolivian frontier, to which Bolivian troops have been dispatched.

The absence of press dispatches from La Paz tends color to the report that Bolivian censorship has been established, although this is also denied by the commission here. Apparently Bolivia's opposition to the proposal to dismantle the forts in the disputed frontier zone is the cause of the breakdown in negotiations.

$2,069,409
Tax Lien Filed
on Rum Profits

Tax liens for the collection of $2,069,409 were filed by the government yesterday against the property of three alleged bootleggers. Mrs. Mabel G. Reinecke, collector of internal revenue, brought action in United States District court for sums claimed as income taxes, interest and penalties. The court proceedings are part of the government's campaign to collect revenue on the illegal incomes of racketeers who reap huge profits from the sale of beer and booze and from slot machines.

The government in its court action is seeking to collect $1,551,560 from John J. Nolan, said to be one of Chicago's biggest beer dealers, and $517,848 from Terry Druggan and Frank Lake, brewers and beer runners.

Publicity in Divorce Suit

Last August when Nolan, whose address is given as 5023 Maypole avenue, was sued for divorce by his wife, Mrs. Josephine Nolan, he was characterized by Superior Judge Joseph David as a "notorious bootlegger" who has a gun or two and $1,000,000 and who is defying legal authorities.

In her suit Mrs. Nolan said she had an income of $15,000 a week as a "beverage dealer," and the special intelligence agents started an investigation.

The amount sought from Nolan, it is alleged, represents taxes on his earnings from beer and slot machines for the years 1924, 1925, 1926, and 1927. Tax returns have been filed by Nolan during those years. It was said, but not enough to cover his earnings in his traffic on the northwest side.

Lien of Record Sued.

The lien, which is the largest ever filed here against an individual, is in the nature of a jeopardy assessment. To appeal the government's claim a bond must be posted within ten days. If no appeal is made, proceedings will be instituted to collect the amount of the lien.

In the property listed by Mrs. Nolan, at the time she sued for divorce, as belonging to her husband was the Hollywood Inn, a cabaret at Lyons. The divorce bill further alleged that Nolan banked his profits under the aliases of John F. Foster, John Novak, John Lacey, and John Leahy.

Yearly assessments on Nolan's income range from $11,977 for 1924 to $91,785 for 1927, leading government agents to believe that his participation in the beer and gambling rackets have gradually lessened.

The lien for collection of $151,000 from Druggan and $204,748 from Lake was filed against the capital stock of the Mutual Mortgage company, said to be owned by them. The tax assessments were originally made a year ago on their alleged profits in beer during the years 1921, 1922, and 1923. At that time levies were made on property owned by Lake at Miami, Fla., Lake Zurich, Oak Park, and Calumet City. The additional lien was filed yesterday after government agents learned that they held stock in the mortgage company.

School-City
Land Trade to Double Airport

A deal between the city and the board of education which would double the size of the municipal airport and give the Wilson avenue district a new high school site on the lake front was brought a step nearer yesterday by approval of the city council's finance committee.

The proposal provides for an exchange of the city's Clarendon beach property at Wilson avenue and the lake for the half section of school land adjacent to the flying field at 6th street and Cicero avenue. Each piece of property is valued at about $5,000,000.

Ald. John R. Massen (48th), who has been active in the project, announced yesterday that he has been in conference with William J. Bogan, superintendent of schools, and representatives of the board of education's business office. Mr. Bogan, he said, is in accord with the plan and has promised to recommend it to the board.

Council Approval Awaited.

If the city council adopts the committee's report at its meeting today, only the acceptance of the board will be needed to put the exchange into effect. Mayor Thompson is understood to be favorable.

"The mutual advantages of the exchange are obvious," Ald. Massen declared. "The wonder is that it hasn't been made long ago."

"Nothing is more needed than a new high school in the uptown district. Skyscraper apartment buildings are going up every day, and Senn and Lake View High schools already are overcrowded. At the same time the city soon is going to badly need every inch of airport space it can procure, and, although we may build a lake front field, the present field always will serve as an airplane storage and repair center. Hangar space will be at a premium."

Beach to Be Abandoned.

The Clarendon beach property, comprising about 500,000 square feet, extends 1,056 feet along Clarendon avenue, being bounded on the north by Wilson avenue and on the south by the Lake View pumping station property. Under an agreement with the Lincoln park board the beach next summer is to be abandoned and supplanted by another farther south. A new outer drive and athletic fields are to be built on new land east of the beach.

The school property involved in the negotiations comprises 320 acres, 30 acres in one corner being reserved for a future school site. It is now a vacant prairie.

Ald. Massen first suggested the property trade nearly a year ago, but was balked by a legal opinion that the board of education cannot dispose of property except at public auction. Under the new plan the board would give the city a lease on the airport land for 99 years, with a stipulation that should the law be changed the city would be the beneficiary.

First Special Assistant Attorney General David D. Stansbury, who with Prosecutor Edwin J. Raker was present at the hearing on behalf of the special grand jury, refused to comment on the gravity of the situation. He would make his reply in court, he said.

ROBBER SHOT BY
PAL IN HOLDUP;
VICTIM WOUNDED

Joseph Gorski, owner of a soft drink parlor at 2001 West 41st street, was shot in the right arm and one of two robbers was shot in the back by his companion late last night during an attempted holdup in the place. Gorski ran from a rear room and grappled with the first bandit when he heard them order his wife, Helen, to raise her hands. After the shooting the robbers fled in an automobile. A few minutes before they had entered the soft drink parlor of Paul Tied, 3959 South Kedzie avenue, and had taken $74 from Tied, his wife, and four customers.

Whether this would be satisfactory to the prosecutor Mr. Loesch refused to state, but it was learned he said confident that Judge Comerford would construe the law as did Chief Justice William V. Brothers when he appointed the special grand jury.

Attorneys Represent Elder.

The plea in abatement, as the defense motion was described, was filed on behalf of Edward Brownstein, a precinct captain in the 14th ward, with a new plan to be presented regarding the reappointment of Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom to continue the investigation, with Chief Prosecutor Frank J. Loesch and his aide as special assistant attorneys general. It would then be necessary for the prosecutors to proceed before the regular grand jury when it is not engaged in its regular routine.

Five lawyers, who also have announced they represent Morris Elder himself, were present. There were Michael Ahern, recognized as one of the most astute criminal court lawyers; Thomas D. Miss Lorraine Irwin, one time nurse who was a star witness for the state against Dr. Amante Rongetti, now under sentence of death for murder, was arrested by Capt. William Schoemaker last night as the keeper of a disorderly house at 3433 West Jackson boulevard.

Her place, according to Capt. John Stege, crime commission investigator, has been the hangout for a number of notorious gangsters, one of them being Rocco Fanelli, arrested Monday as an aid of "Peppi" Genaro in connection with the election killings. Capt. Stege added that he had information that at least two detective bureau squads frequented her resort and fraternized with the gangsters, the oddly assorted guests making such bedlam that neighbors repeatedly complained.

Miss Irwin is said to be willing to tell all she knows about Chicago crime.

The fate of all the prosecutions brought by the special grand jury against gangsters charged with slugs, kidnappings, shootings, murder and vote buying on primary day, April 10, was brought into question yesterday before Judge Frank Comerford of the Criminal court.

The judge was asked by defense lawyers to hold that all the activities of the special grand jury, and all its indictments, be declared null and void.

Question Long Debated.

While only the defense side of the argument was heard, and the prosecutors evinced no concern or fear that the plea would be granted, the question, which has long been debated pro and con by Chicago lawyers, prosecutors and judges, was held important.

The argument was advanced that special grand juries cannot function legally while a regular grand jury is in session. Never has it been held by the upper courts that two grand juries might sit at the same time, the defense counsel insisted. Judge Comerford listened attentively and announced he would hear arguments from the prosecutors tomorrow afternoon, after which he will hand down a decision.

First Special Assistant Attorney General David D. Stansbury, who with Prosecutor Edwin J. Raker was present at the hearing on behalf of the special grand jury, refused to comment on the gravity of the situation. He would make his reply in court, he said.

Whether this would be satisfactory to the prosecutor Mr. Loesch refused to state, but it was learned he said confident that Judge Comerford would construe the law as did Chief Justice William V. Brothers when he appointed the special grand jury.

The argument revolved chiefly around the following motion of the jury code of the state statute: "The judge of any court of competent jurisdiction may issue a special

... advice on child training. The helpful, commonsense suggestions in her daily column are a venue for a grand jury whenever in his judgment public justice requires it.

Chief Justice Broderick, construing this statute as empowering him to name a special grand jury at any time, has impeded two special juries in the last two months to carry out the investigation into political crimes and vote frauds.

But Attorney Ahern argued that the section did not mean strictly what it said, and that it was simply a declaration of the provisions of the English common law. English judges can have only one grand jury sitting at a time, it was conceded. Judge Comerford himself declared there could be no dispute on this point.

Trend of the Argument.
The common law, however, is superseded whenever a contrary or specifying statute is passed by the Illinois legislature. Attorney Ahern declared that in the particular case, the legislature simply wished to make plain the provisions of the common law, and he insisted that the chief justice could not go beyond his powers derived from the law of England.

"The question," said Judge Comerford, "is whether the statute supercedes the common law, or is merely declaratory of the common law." The judge clearly indicated that if it is shown the statute is declaratory of the common law he must hold the grand jury proceedings void.

"There has never been a county, in any state, in which two grand juries sat at the same time," Ahern argued. "What about New York?" interrupted Special Assistant Attorney General Raber.

Ahern Answers State.
"Well, that is not a common law state. There is a specific statute there," replied Ahern.

"The only time at which a special grand jury can legally be impaneled is after the regular grand jury has been discharged and a sudden need brings a situation in which public justice requires the summoning immediately of a grand jury. If the regular grand jury had completed its work and been discharged, then a special venire might be called. But even that grand jury would have all powers possessed by any other such body and could not be restricted as this one has been, to election investigations."

"To assume that this so-called special grand jury is a legal body, we must go on to the ridiculous possibility that each judge, fifty-six of them in Cook county alone, could impanel a grand jury whenever he thought public justice might require it. We could have grand juries, sitting at the same time, investigating gambling, for one; vote frauds, for another; restraint of trade, for another; immorality, for another, and so on, ad infinitum. We might have a hundred grand juries operating at the same time in our county were it not for this wise restriction."

"Then everybody in the city would be indicted, eh?" remarked Judge Comerford.

Identify Kidnaping Jailer.
Joseph [Peppi] Genaro, captured gangster, was identified by witnesses yesterday as one of the jailers who held away over the squalid prison established on primary day in the "bloody 20th" ward to hold the victims of political kidnapings.

This makeshift guardhouse of the "America First" gangsters was located, according to the testimony of witnesses, at 1152 South Peoria street, within one block of the home of Judge Emanuel Eller, son of Morris Eller, boss of the 20th ward.

Vain efforts have been made to learn the identities of persons who tenanted the house before the primary in April, and who selected it as the prison of the kidnaped precinct workers and official watchers, according to the investigators. Yesterday it was definitely established by Capt. John Stege, chief investigator for the special grand jury, that Genaro was "warden" of the joint for some hours on primary day.

Held in $100,000 Bonds.
Genaro and Rocco Panelli, with whom he was captured by Capt. Stege last Monday night, were booked on charges of kidnaping and assault to murder last night, and bail was fixed for Genaro at $40,000 and for Panelli at $60,000. Early this morning Judge Francis Borrelli at his home approved bonds for Panelli and he was released from custody. Both men will be arraigned this morning before Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Municipal court.

Prosecutor Stansbury stated that no witnesses had yet identified either Genaro or Panelli as implicated in the murder of Octavius C. Granady, colored leader and opponent of Boss Eller.

Jury Fund Totals $133,156; Union Leaguers Give $1,350

Members of the Union League club yesterday contributed $1,350 to the fund being raised to pay the expenses of the special grand jury. Other contributions during the day brought the total receipts to $133,156. The remainder of the $150,000 needed by the prosecutors is expected to be collected by the end of the week.

Officials of the Union League club last week urged their members to contribute to the fund and thus aid "the enforcement of all laws enacted to preserve the purity of the ballot box."

Yesterday's contributions were: $1,000—Anonymous; $250—Anonymous; $250—Paul H. Davis; $100—Douglas Beach, Hibbard, Spencer, Bartlett & Co., Bear Brand Bottlers, Charles A. Stevens & Bros., Anonymous (2), W. L. Taylor.

One witness, whose name was withheld, said he saw Genaro cruising about the Twentieth ward on primary day with a double barreled shotgun across his lap. Other witnesses to the assassination of Granady, who was killed by gangsters riding in a car bearing Eller political banners, will be rounded up by Sheridan A. Bru-seaux, special investigator for Prosecutor Loesch, and asked to view the two gangsters.

Capt. Stege and Special Assistant Attorney General Ferre C. Watkins were especially interested in a small blue covered note book found in Panelli's possession. Entries in the book include many given as "Polios, $100," and in other sums. Panelli was asked about the entries and he said, after a moment's hesitation, "O, I played the policy games on the south side. That's what that means."

"O, yes," came back Capt. Stege. "And how do you spell 'policy'?"

"P-O-L-I-C-E," replied Panelli.

NEW BOAT NOT ON RUM DUTY, COAST GUARD DECLARES

Coast guard authorities in Chicago said yesterday that they have received no orders to use their new patrol boat as an auxiliary prohibition craft to sweep rum runners from Lake Michigan. The boat is capable of a speed of 35 miles an hour. A requisition for a fast patrol boat was sent to Washington, D. C., after the police department acquired boats faster than those of the coast guard. The new vessel, which will be under the command of Capt. John O. Anderson at the central station at the mouth of the river, is for emergencies.

Adrift at Sea.
Adrift on their frail craft, with a square sail rigged up on the stump of the mast, the Rofa's crew was barely able to keep out of the trough of the sea. They were taken off by Capt. Hart at night, several hours after one of his crew observed signals from the distressed yacht. The Tuscara towed the Rofa for nearly five hours and the yacht broke adrift in a rainstorm and probably sank.

Unaware of the imminence of a storm that was approaching, three young men of the six in the crew dived overboard after their exhausting labors in cutting away the rigging and saving their ship from being crushed in by the snapped masts dragging alongside the Rofa.

Abandoned $45,000 Yacht.
So far were the crew from being aware of their danger that they hoped to continue to Spain with their makeshift rig, but on the urging of Capt. Hart, who warned them of a north-east storm fast approaching, they reluctantly abandoned the $45,000 yacht, leaving behind most of their personal belongings.

The crew members were exceeding-ly modest about their adventure, and Mrs. Roos' only worry seemed to be that the newspapers would "sensationalize" the story of their dramatic rescue.

Her husband was taken off at quarantine and went to Pelham Manor for an automobile to take Mrs. Roos home. The other members of the Tuscara, said Mrs. Roos, was the coolest one of the rescued party. Her work under stress of the accident, they said, was "as good as any man."

Members of Crew.

CREW OF YACHT ADRIFT AT SEA TELL OF RESCUE

Rofa Disabled on Race to Spain.

New York, July 10.—[Special.]—Their narrow escape from death at sea was related tonight by the six rescued members of the crew of the small yacht Rofa which was lost 807 miles east of Ambrose lighthouse during a race to Spain.

The 15-ton schooner owned by Capt. William Boos of Pelham Manor had at the helm Mrs. Boos, experienced yachtswoman and first of her sex to serve as a member of a crew in such an event. Late today in a drizzling rain Mrs. Boos and the others of the crew, docketed from the Anglo-American oil tanker Tuscara, Capt. A. W. Hart in charge at the Standard Oil pier in Bayonne. The Tuscara had rescued them after a squall had snapped both masts of the Rofa.

FINDS PETTING IN CEMETERIES GRAVE PROBLEM.
Pittsburgh, Pa., July 10.—[Special.]—Prevention of petting in cemeteries has become a national problem, it was asserted today by W. B. Jones, superintendent of Highwood cemetery of the Association of American Cemetery superintendents.

"Cemetery keepers all over the country are complaining," said Mr. Jones, "their shrubbery and trees, their secluded shady spots, make them particularly inviting to young people bent on petting."

"We have been compelled to close our gates to automobiles at 5:30 p. m. For the same reason cemeteries in New York, Chicago, Cleveland and Cincinnati bar autos after 5 p. m."

BY OSCAR HEWITT.
Herbert Hoover topped his Democratic rival yesterday by a substantial plurality in the pre-campaign straw vote of THE TRIBUNE. It was Hoover's first time to show a distinct advantage over Alfred E. Smith.

In the first day's collection of 2,934 straws, the two presidential candidates ran an almost dead heat—Hoover leading by three ballots. On this basis, Smith has 50.27 per cent of the straws and Hoover, 47.95 per cent.

But Smith is still ahead. In the 15,118 straws represented a poll of the entire city, Smith's advantage based on percentage, would be the approximate equivalent of 23,200 votes. But all of the city has not been covered. Much of the territory canvassed is normally Republican. The poll yesterday was of street intersections and movie theaters in the second to the ninth wards, inclusive.

The results of the day's canvass in both straws and percentages is as follows:

Candidate and party	Straws	Pct.
Herbert C. Hoover, Rep.	2,417	63.98
Alfred E. Smith, Dem.	2,060	44.80
Norman M. Thomas, Soc.	82	1.15
Totals	4,559	99.93

Those eight wards can reasonably be expected to cast 200,000 votes in the November election. On the basis of the incomplete straws above, Hoover is represented to now have 127,950 favorable votes in these eight wards to 89,720 persons who prefer Smith. Hoover's advantage yesterday of an indicated 13,240 is much below the normal Republican strength in these eight wards, although Hoover to date has been shown to be more popular in this south side Republican string of wards than he is among the nine north side wards of Republicans.

Votes Cast at Corners.
The particular street corners on which straws were collected yesterday are shown in the following tabulation of the vote for each candidate at each spot:

Ward-Street cor.	Hoover	Smith	Thomas	Total
2-3rd-31st	38	48	0	86
3-4th-31st	39	55	0	94
4-5th-31st	147	104	0	251
5-6th-31st	191	100	0	291
6-7th-31st	47	79	1	127
7-8th-31st	59	47	1	107
8-9th-31st	151	75	1	227
9-10th-31st	215	20	0	235
10-11th-31st	11	10	0	21
11-12th-31st	90	79	11	180
Totals	898	789	22	1,709

On these streets corners, Hoover received 52.41 per cent of the straws collected, Smith 46.30 per cent and Thomas, the socialist, 1.29 per cent.

Hoover Gained at Theaters.
At the south side theaters canvassed, Hoover made an even better showing. Among the voters at the playhouses, Hoover received 54.94 per cent, Smith 42.88 per cent and Thomas

3-Oakland Square, 3947 Broadway	127	143	3	273
4-Metropolitan 4646 S. Parkway	220	186	3	410
5-Fidelity, Hyde Park and Blackstone	294	119	3	416
6-Tower, 634 and Blackstone	233	705	6	944
7-Avalon, 79th and Stony Island	205	168	5	378
7-Jackson Park, 67th and Stony Island	194	85	5	284
8-Chatham, 753 S. Cottage Grove	45	40	0	85
8-Roseland State, 11020 S. Michigan	231	190	0	421
Totals	1,024	1,276	30	2,330

While the Hoover advantage may appear promising to the average Hoover supporter, it is not highly impressive in comparison with past elections in those same wards. In the majority election last year an aggregate of 207,293 votes were cast there, of which Dr. John Dill Robertson, the Independent, obtained 7,456, or 3.59 per cent; Thompson, 128,938, and Dever 72,899.

Difference of 14,520 Votes.
Thompson's percentage was 61.24, as compared with Hoover's 53.93. That difference in percentage is the equivalent of 14,520 voters in favor of Thompson over Hoover.

Step back to the last presidential election. Coolidge, who carried Chicago by a trifle more than 350,000, received 74.30 per cent of the 192,374 votes cast in the eight wards at that time. Davis, the Democrat, got only 14.80 per cent, or about half of the normal vote of Jefferson in these wards.

Tomorrow another section of the south side will be polled, which is usually Democratic.

The day's poll gave Smith 65 per cent. The poll of the Daily News in upstate New York thus far is Smith, 10,156; Hoover, 5,758.

GETS AUTO BACK AFTER 2 YEARS AND 33 BATTLES

Publisher Wins Long Fight in Courts.

Edward Fahey, 1425 Church street, Evanston, yesterday lost possession of an automobile stolen two years ago from Andrew T. Murphy of Winnetka, publisher of The Black Diamond, a coal industry magazine. It was Murphy's thirty-third visit to court since the theft, but he got his car back.

Fahey, who was tried for the theft and acquitted, filed suit to replevin the car from the police, who were holding it. Superior Judge Joseph David yesterday refused to grant another continuance requested by Fahey's lawyers and the replevin suit was dismissed.

Ownership Established.
Murphy testified that at the criminal trial, before Judge Otto Kerner, the prosecutor did not give him an opportunity to prove his ownership of the $3,200 car. Detectives said they had established definitely that it belonged to Murphy.

The situation was unique in Cook county jurisprudence. The police records showed that the car belonged to Murphy, that it was found in Fahey's possession and that Fahey claimed to have bought it from a man he could not identify. The court record showed Fahey was acquitted in the criminal courts and then sought to keep the car through proceedings in the civil courts.

Promises to Restore Car.
Fahey did not appear in court yesterday. Nor did his chief counsel, Frank A. McDonnell. Word was sent to the judge that Attorney McDonnell was ill and requested another continuance.

"I can't compel them to try the merits of their claims," Judge David spoke to Murphy, "but I will not give them another continuance and I'll see that the police turn the machine over to you."

Woman Sent to Bridewell for Robbing Churchgoers
When worshippers in the St. Vincent's church, Webster and Sheffield avenues, complained that their purses were stolen from their pews during communion, a policeman was detailed to attend services there. Last Friday he arrested Mary Miller, 67, when he saw her moving about the pews. Yesterday Judge Allegritti fined her $100, and in lieu of the money she was sent to the Bridewell.

HOOVER LINES UP ORATORICAL BIG GUNS TO STOP AL

Lays Campaign Plans in Wet East, Corn Belt.

Washington, D. C., July 10.—[Special.]—Plans for lining up the Republican orators who will be relied on to stop Gov. Alfred E. Smith in the critical wet eastern states and in the heart of the corn belt will be worked out by Secretary of Commerce Hoover and Chairman Work of the national committee within the next ten days.

Representative John Q. Tilson, floor leader of the house and veteran political campaigner, will arrive in Washington Friday to take over his new duties as head of the eastern speakers' bureau, a position to which he was appointed today. Mr. Tilson will accompany the Republican nominee on the trip to Alto, Cal., for the notification exercise scheduled for Aug. 11.

Present plans call for conference the latter part of the week between Tilson, Work and Secretary Hoover. It is anticipated that Representative Walter H. Newton (Rep., Minn.), chairman of the national speakers' bureau, will confer with Mr. Hoover and Representative Tilson when the Hoover special reaches Superior or the Twin Cities.

Under the present organization Mr. Newton will have general charge of the intensive drive designed to clear the way for a sweeping Hoover-Curtis victory in November.

While no announcements have been made it was learned today that Hoover leaders expect Vice President Charles G. Dawes of Evanston and Senator William E. Borah of Idaho to head an exceptionally strong array of oratorical talent. Other speakers sure to go on the firing line for the Republican ticket include Senator James E. Watson (Rep., Ind.), Senator Charles L. McNary (Rep., Ore.), Senator George Moses (Rep., N. H.), Representative Theodore Burton (Rep., O.) and former Gov. Harding of Iowa.

Call Settle Democrat.
Other developments of the day included the announcement that Senator Curtis will be notified of his nomination as Vice President at his home in Topeka, Kas., on the evening of Aug. 10. It also was announced that Mrs. Alvin T. Hirt, vice chairman of the Republican national committee, will meet the eastern committeemen in Washington on July 20 to work out campaign plans. Senator Simon D. Evans (Rep., O.), keynote at the Kansas City convention, will lead the vice presidential committee which will formally notify Mr. Curtis.

Senator Moses, director of campaign in the east, will deliver the address of notification at the Hoover exercises.

In keeping with his policy of maintaining silence on campaign issues until after the notification exercises, Mr. Hoover has decided not to outline his position on farm relief prior to his speech of acceptance. It was announced that Mr. Hoover will not send and reply at this time to the telegraphed query of W. H. Settle, president of the Indiana Farm Bureau federation, to state their position on farm relief. Gov. Smith replied yesterday that if elected he would immediately call a farm aid meeting.

It was pointed out here that Mr. Settle has been a Democrat for many years.

CONCLUDE WORLD PACT TO ABOLISH TRADE BARRIERS

GENEVA, July 10.—[Special.]—An important multilateral commercial treaty, negotiated under the auspices of the league of nations, was concluded today with the adoption in the presence of the American delegation of an agreement to abolish trade restrictions.

Prof. Colijn of Holland, president of the conference, said that this constituted a great step toward freedom of trade as recommended by the international economic conference in 1927.

The exceptions claimed by the various countries were fewer than expected. Separate protocols for the abolition of restrictions on commerce in hides, skins and bones also were adopted.

HUNT 5 ROBBERS AFTER HOLDUP OF DAIRY COMPANY

A search on a wide scale was being conducted last night for five robbers who entered the offices of the Bowman Dairy company at 415 North Albany avenue yesterday morning and escaped with $1,200 after forcing three girls and fourteen male employees to lie down on the floor.

One of the bandits remained at the wheel of an automobile in front of the offices while the others entered. One stationed himself at the side of Miss Wavah Peterson, 332 Keystone avenue, the telephone operator, and kept a pistol pointed at her while the remaining bandits covered the other employees.

UTILITY QUIZZES GET NO PLACE BUT COSTS LINGER ON

Power Trust Inquiry Will Resume in Fall.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

(Chicago Tribune Staff Service.)
Washington, D. C., July 10.—(Special.)—The investigation of public utility companies ordered by the senate, which was to have put Senator Thomas J. Walsh (Dem., Mont.) in the White House, had failed of its purpose, but the inquiry, with a steadily mounting cost to the taxpayers, lingers on.

The federal trade commission, which is conducting the investigation, now is sending questionnaires to all interstate public utilities with a view to ascertaining whether there is a power trust.

The questionnaires call upon the utility companies to disclose their financing, their financial or other relations with various corporations and a multitude of other details.

Resume Hearing in Fall.

In September the commission will resume hearing testimony concerning the propaganda disseminated by the organizations of public utility companies to combat public ownership propaganda disseminated by Senator Norris (Rep., Neb.), former Gov. Clifford Plafchot of Pennsylvania, and other individuals and numerous organizations, including the Public Ownership League, the National Popular Government League, and the People's Legislative Service.

The utility companies have notified the commission that they desire to present evidence of the vast public ownership propaganda disseminated in schools and colleges and in other channels of publicity by Socialists and other radicals, to counteract which the utility associations have propagated the cause of private ownership in the manner disclosed by testimony before the commission in the last four months.

This is the second time within three years that the trade commission, at vast expense, has been directed by the senate to investigate the "power trust."

Finds No Power Trust.

It was only last year that the commission, after an exhaustive investigation costing $181,198, reported to the senate that there is no power trust. Inasmuch as the pending investigation is more extensive than the previous inquiry, its cost is expected to exceed $200,000. The commission was expending its own funds for the work up to July 1, when a special appropriation of $15,000 became available.

Further appropriations will be required for the investigation, which, it is estimated, will take from two to three years to complete.

Four hundred thousand dollars expended on these two investigations would be, however, only a fraction of the toll taken annually from the taxpayers to make political capital for parties and individuals.

The first investigation of the power trust was initiated by Senator Norris as a result of his efforts to bring about government operation of the Muscle Shoals hydro-electric plant. His experience with the power companies, which were seeking to lease or otherwise procure the development of Muscle Shoals for private operation, convinced him, says Norris, that there was a power monopoly in the making which ought to be exposed and broken up.

Norris introduced in the sixty-eighth

DEMOCRATS HAVE $200,000 ON HAND AS CAMPAIGN OPENS

New York, July 10.—(AP)—The report of James H. Jones, director of finance of the Democratic national committee, tomorrow will show that the new campaign committee will have approximately $200,000 to start on.

Jones summarized the report he will make to the national committee and said that since January, 1922, $708,000 had been received from all sources.

Of this amount $260,000 was contributed by citizens of Houston for the convention fund and $44,000 came from convention concessions. The expenses of the convention were about $24,000. No part of the convention fund, he said, was used to pay the 1924 deficit or running expenses of the national committee.

congress, a resolution of investigation. For a long time he got nowhere with it. The Democrats and the radical Republicans were for it but the conservative Republicans were going to beat it by a filibuster in the closing days of the congress. But Norris outwitted the conservatives.

It happened that Senator Ernest (Rep., Ky.) had a little resolution of investigation of the tobacco trust which he simply must get through in order to put him in right with the Kentucky tobacco growers in the 1924 election in which he was a candidate for reelection. Ernest was a conservative Republican in good standing and so had little difficulty in getting his investigation resolution slated for passage.

Norris bided his time and when the Ernest resolution was called up for passage he offered his resolution to investigate the power trust as an amendment. It was germane. It was not subject to a point of order. To help Ernest, the conservative Republicans were compelled to accept the Norris resolution.

Inquiry Costs $25,000.

Incidentally the trade commission investigated the tobacco trust at a cost of $25,000. The tobacco trust was acquitted of the charges, and Senator Ernest was defeated for reelection.

When the Seventieth congress met last December, Senator Walsh of Montana, before the trade commission had completed its report under the Norris resolution, offered a resolution for a reinvestigation of the power trust by a special committee of the senate. Senator Walsh expected to be named the chairman of the special committee. His friends were confident that in the rôle of chief inquisitor of the power trust he would add to his reputation as chief inquisitor of Teapot Dome to such an extent that he would make himself the logical Democratic nominee for President.

But misfortune attended this project. Some of the Democrats deserted the combine of Democrats and Rep-lean radicals and the provision for an investigation by a senate commission was knocked out of the resolution, which in the form it was passed, directed the trade commission to do the investigating.

Strange Thing Happens.

Then a curious thing happened in the trade commission. When instructed to investigate the power trust by the Norris resolution, the trade commission obtained an opinion from the attorney general holding invalid that part of the resolution directing the commission to inquire into the propaganda operations of the utilities and thereupon proceeded to ignore that part of the senate order. But when it received the Walsh resolution, the commission decided that it possessed sufficient power of its own to investigate the utilities propaganda. The mystery of this change of front never has been solved.

The attack on the utility companies before the trade commission was capitalized by the proponents of Boulder Dam for the purpose of discrediting opposition to the bill for the construction of that proposed work by the government. It was represented that at the bottom of the opposition to this project, was the power trust, the vast propaganda activities which were being exposed. The hydro electric companies asserted that their only interest in Boulder Dam was to obtain the right to purchase the power developed on the same terms as others.

As it developed that in disseminating propaganda against the public ownership and other socialist propaganda, the utilities were merely fighting fire with fire, public interest in the investigation began to flag.

Inquiry Gets Oxygen.

Norris and Walsh then gave the inquiry oxygen treatment. They rose alternately in the senate and stating that the newspapers were neglecting the power trust investigation, proceeded to read excerpts from the testimony.

Then congress adjourned and the supply of oxygen was cut off.

According to the testimony so far heard, three national utility organizations—the National Electric Light association, the American Gas association, and the American Electric Railway association—have been principally interested in establishing contacts with schools and colleges.

It was in Illinois that Samuel Insull in 1919 initiated the establishment of the first of the public utility information committees. This committee in 1922 or 1923 undertook the inspection of all text books on civics and economics used in Illinois schools.

The director of the Illinois committee testified that 105 books were reviewed. A memorandum was prepared, quoting objectionable sections. A list was made, describing certain of the books as "Good," "Fair," "Unfair" or "Bad."

Executives Are Warned.

Copies of the memorandum went to power executives in all parts of the country. Director Edward Mullaney, in a letter, stated that most of books reviewed, "are no less than poisonous," and urged "that action be on the broadest possible basis with all possible weight behind it."

The concern of public utilities over the nature of text books after the end of 1924 is shown by letters introduced as exhibits in the commission's investigation. Joseph Groce of the Edison Electric Illuminating company of Boston, wrote that he had many personal friends in text book publishing houses and would "be glad to be of service in helping to straighten out this matter of misstatement in text books."

As a result of this concern, the text book situation late in 1924 began to receive the attention of the N. E. L. A. committee on cooperation with educational institutions. Survivors similar to that in Illinois were made within the next two years in New York, Pennsylvania, the Carolinas, Ohio, Missouri, Iowa, Wisconsin, and Colorado.

Some Corrections Made.

Witnesses from several states testified that they did not state to eliminate the books reported "unfair" or "bad." However, a letter from Chairman Hanlon of the Iowa committee on public utility information said in 1925: "We took up with each manager the question of getting the information to the proper parties in order that the text-books which gave the matter correctly might be adopted in place of the socialist ones. We have had a great deal of success in getting this corrected."

The evidence thus far shows two instances in which agreements were made between publishing houses and the utility organizations. A Pennsylvania committee official admitted writing that J. B. Winston and Co., of Philadelphia, "had agreed to avoid pitfalls in the future." In May 1925 representatives of Ginn & Co. agreed that books discussing public utilities should in the future be submitted to an N. E. L. A. committee for criticism, although they stipulated that this agreement should not be binding.

upon either publisher or author. Fred L. Jenkins, chairman of the committee on cooperation with educational institutions in 1925, wrote to M. L. Aylesworth, then managing director of the N. E. L. A. and now president of the National Broadcasting Co.: "Lines Up Publishing House."

"I feel that we have made a good start in getting the largest school book publishing house, who printed 12,000,000 books last year, with us, which will be a tremendous leverage on any other house should opposition occur, which I doubt."

The only book which testimony, thus far, shows to have been altered under such an agreement is Howard C. Hill's Community Life and Civic Problems, from which, Jenkins, testified, a statement concerning Samuel Insull's 1922 campaign contributions was removed. The author refused to make other suggested changes.

Hundreds of thousands of pamphlets have been distributed among high school and eighth grade students. Many of these went to 635 Illinois high schools, 328 of 900 high schools in New England, 350 among 1,600 in Texas, and 690 among 719 in Missouri. Extensive distribution also occurred in

New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Iowa and Nebraska. Ohio schools last year used 200,000 copies of "Aladdin of Industry," written and distributed by the Ohio public utility information committee. A public utility "Catechism," written in question-and-answer fashion, was circulated among Connecticut schools.

Share Cost of Books.

In Rochester, N. Y., a new text book, Edward Hungerford's "The Story of the Public Utilities," was published cooperatively this year by the board of education and local utilities.

Witnesses testified they took special care to avoid tactics, which might be interpreted as forcing these pamphlets upon the schools. Sample copies were mailed to teachers who were invited to ask for more free. The samples were accompanied by letters stating that the materials used were strictly informational.

Spill on Propaganda.

The amount of propaganda contained in these publications has been the subject of vigorous controversy. N. E. L. A. officials have issued statements which can be summarized by the testimony before the commission of Harvard J. Mullaney, director of the Illinois committee that "these pamphlets are as strictly informative as it is possible to make them with the omission of public regulations or ownership, he and other witnesses contended, merely was incidental to the other informative aspects of the publications."

Establishment of widespread contacts with colleges and universities was begun by the Illinois committee on public utility information in 1922. That fall, the director of the committee wrote: "The result has been that we have located virtually every text book and also have found the text book in course of preparation."

Contacts with Colleges.

Evidence was introduced showing that several authors did submit manuscripts and made suggested revisions. Copies of approved books were purchased by utility associations and distributed among the teachers and libraries. These included the "Public and Its Utilities" by William C. Raymond, former dean of the Iowa state university school of engineering, and A. C. Spurr's "Guiding Principles of Public Utility Regulation."

CHICAGO TAKES FIRST STEP FOR ISLAND AIRPORT

Aldermen Ask for Plans and Cost Estimates.

Chicago took its first definite step yesterday toward establishment of the proposed new $5,000,000 airport on an island in the lake of Grant park. The finance committee of the city council adopted a resolution calling for immediate preparations of plans and cost estimates.

The action was taken at a conference attended by representatives of the council committees on railway terminals, on harbors, wharves and bridges, and aviation. Ald. A. J. Moran presented the resolution, which was seconded by Ald. Edward J. Keindl and Max Adamowski. It requests Richard Wolf, commissioner of public works, to draw the necessary plans, and calls on Corporation Counsel Samuel E. Elwell to go into the legal phases of the project.

The resolution is to be presented for ratification at today's session of the city council.

Maj. Landis Urges Speed.

Maj. Reed Landis of the Chicago navy commission, who was one of the principal speakers at the meeting, urged immediate action on the landing field plans in order that Chicago may keep pace with other large cities in air development. Present landing facilities in the city are badly overcrowded, he said.

Ald. Guy Guernsey, chairman of the committee, declared that a six weeks' adjournment of the city council to be taken today will not halt action on the proposed landing field.

"We have until twenty days before the November election to propose a bond issue," he pointed out. "The first thing to do is to find out just where we stand, how this airport is to be built, and what it will cost."

James D. Cunningham, president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, urged building of the airport to attract manufacturers to the Chicago district. John B. Ferguson was another taking part in the conference.

Lindbergh on Committee.

On Aug. 15 the first of the several air-rail transportation agreements projected with Chicago as a terminus will go into effect, it was announced yesterday, after a conference here between officials of the Northwest Airways and of the Burlington, Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific, Great Northern, and Northern Pacific railways.

A nonstop flight of 350 miles between Chicago and St. Paul and Minneapolis figures in the service planned. Flights will be so scheduled as to connect with all through trains to and from the east at Chicago and to and from the west at the Twin Cities, it was declared by Col. L. H. Britten of St. Paul, vice president of the Northwest Airways.

Air-Rail Service Aug. 15.

The railways interested will have charge of selling all through air mail tickets, he said. Col. Charles A. Lindbergh of the technical committee of the Transcontinental Air Transport, will also participate actively in operation of the new service as a member of the air service committee, Col. Britten said.

Air mail service daily except Sunday and holidays was established between Chicago and Lincoln, Neb., yesterday by the Boeing Air Transport. Stops are to be made at Cedar Rapids and Des Moines, Ia., and at Omaha, Neb.

James Batson, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in Pontiac reformatory by Judge Harry B. Miller.

Leroy Christensen, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in Pontiac reformatory by Judge Harry B. Miller.

Fred W. Amsner, confidence game, sentenced to 2 years in the Bridewell; John Harvodeck, receiving stolen property, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in Pontiac reformatory, by Judge Stanley Klarowski.

Thomas Garrity and Edward Smolger, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years each in the penitentiary by Judge Emanuel Elber.

Dr. Justin L. Mitchell, 5058 South Ashland avenue, whose alleged illegal medical activities have brought him into public custody before, was formally charged with murder last night in a warrant obtained by Coroner Oscar Wolff. The coroner is conducting an investigation into charges that unlawful operations were performed at the Michigan Boulevard sanitarium, 3750 Michigan avenue.

Mrs. Marie Fenton, owner of the sanitarium, who also was charged with murder, made admissions to Coroner Wolff late last evening. It was said, but refused to implicate herself or the physician. They will be arraigned this morning in South Clark street court.

Says Charges Partly Upheld.

Mrs. Fenton's statement substantiates in part, Mr. Wolff said, the charges made by Miss Gertrude Underwood, former head nurse at the sanitarium. Miss Underwood told the coroner that one baby was deliberately drowned and the body placed in the hospital furnace.

Dr. Mitchell's name has figured in print before. Miss Mathilda Benkhart, an undergraduate nurse, sued him for $25,000 in 1919. She charged the physician with attempting to attach her while she was attending a case in the maternity ward of the German Deaconess hospital on the afternoon of April 24, 1919. The case was in the courts until 1922 when a jury awarded Miss Benkhart a verdict of $10,000.

Held to Grand Jury in 1925.

Dr. Mitchell's next public appearance came in 1925 when he was held to the grand jury on charges of performing an illegal operation on Mrs. Catherine Marton, 8026 South Wood street.

"Mrs. Fenton signed a statement admitting that three illegal operations were performed at the hospital or sanitarium and that one of the babies was drowned and the body placed in the institution's furnace," said Coroner Wolff. "She and Dr. Mitchell had denied the accusations, stating that Miss Underwood's affidavits were false, and were sworn to revenge herself on hospital authorities."

CRASH OF ITALIA COST 19 LIVES, LUNDBORG SAYS

borg, "that I resisted the temptation to try to walk to land, a temptation to which Dr. Finn Malmgren, Capt. Alberto Mariani and Capt. Filippo Zappi succumbed."

Every day the marooned group received news from the outside world by radio. It was a great encouragement to them when they learned that both planes were being sent north, because the snow had become too soft to permit heavier machines to land near their tent.

"Greatest Arctic Tragedy."

Telling of his own rescue by Lieut. Shyberg, he said he had gone to sleep in despair but was awakened on July 5 by the throbbing of a motor. He recognized it as the engine of the Hansa, Bradenburg machine. It was circling over the camp, and messages tossed from it said a moth plane would come the next day. Lieut. Shyberg made a successful landing twenty-four hours later on the ice and pulled Lundborg aboard.

"The whole tragedy now seems the greatest in the history of modern arctic exploration," said Lieut. Lundborg. "Every day is now more or less foggy and planes are handicapped in their rescue work."

"It is now forty-one days since Dr. Malmgren and his two mates set out on their fatal walk toward the land that seemed so near to them. They were poorly equipped in every way and must certainly have perished."

"The Italians in the airship who drifted away after the gondola was torn loose, must also be considered lost. There were six men in that group."

"The dog team expedition of Capt. Sora, with the Norwegians Varming and Vandongen, in all probability perished."

"There is very little hope of finding alive Roald Amundsen and the five men who were with him in the French plane piloted by Rene Guilbaud."

"The five survivors of the Italia under Lieut. Vigier have now been camping on the ice forty-five days and the chief hope for their rescue is the ice breaker Krassin."

Reports from the Krassin today said that she was 50 kilometers [about 31 miles] from the camp.

AL MOTORS 115 MILES TO PLAY WITH BOY SCOUTS

Give Him Biggest Brown Derby in World.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

(Chicago Tribune Free Service.)
Seneca Camp, Bear Mountain, N. Y., July 10.—(Special.)—The biggest boy of them all, Scout Al Smith, motored today 115 miles down the Hudson river from Albany to be a boy among boys. He spent two hours in this summer camp, where 3,000 Boy Scouts are living the life of the woods and waters. When he got into these mountain fastnesses, twelve miles back from the historic river, he repeated with the boys their oath of allegiance to kindness and decorum, and he saluted the nation's flag with them, and to them he was presented as:
"Our old friend, an A No. 1 perfectly good Scout, Alfred E. Smith, governor of the state of New York."
Then the tomtoms were beaten and the cannons were fired, and the cheers rang out until the hills echoed again and again. Then the Scouts presented to Gov. Smith, whom they call "Chief Good Scout," the biggest brown derby ever fashioned. It is five feet long and four feet high, and they made it themselves.

Byrd Talks to Boys.
Old Uncle Dan Beard gave greetings to Al on behalf of his fellow Scouts all over the land, and Commander Richard E. Byrd of polar fame told him he was going to take a Boy Scout with him on his impending exploration of the Antarctic continent, and grim Samuel Undermyer, the most pitiless cross-examiner of the American bar, dropped austerly and beamed upon the scene.
Al Smith's visit with the boys was not a political stunt. It has been a July event in his calendar for seven years. But this year it was, naturally, a source of special excitement to the boys because they have a hunch that next July their fellow Scout will come into camp a bigger and better Scout than ever.

Nor did Scout Smith make a condescending speech to the young woodsmen. He spoke to them as boyish men to manly boys.

Al Praises Scouts.
"I believe," said he, "that the Boy Scout movement has had considerable to do with the vast extension of the state's policy in the acquisition of wild lands for health and recreation purposes."
Then he sketched for his intent hearers the state's growing park system from Niagara Falls to Montauk Point, and he said that the increasing use of the Bear Mountain area proved that 50 miles from a great city was not too distant a location for these heroic playgrounds. He came to the human equation of the Scout proposition, saying:
"Every business man is taught to conserve an asset, to preserve it, to keep it for the day when it will be needed."

America's Greatest Asset.
"You are the most important asset of the American business man of today. The work of state building and state administration, the work of carrying on and developing American business, must sooner or later be passed on to you by the elders who are with you today."
"I believe you will be ready for that work. It is difficult to look into the faces of the Scouts year after

REED IN CAMP TO FIGHT FOR SMITH VICTORY THIS FALL

New York, July 10.—(AP)—Radiating a fighting spirit, the chieftains of democracy, headed by Gov. Smith, the presidential nominee, assembled here tonight to map out a plan of campaign designed to carry the party to victory in November.

The list of those answering muster tonight included the governor, Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, the vice presidential nominee, and Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, the outstanding opponent of Smith in the pre-convention fight.
Reed, now a champion of the Smith cause, was invited personally by the governor, who desires to discuss prospective plans with the Missourian, who for years has been a positive factor in Democratic circles.

In addition to Robinson and Reed, those also on hand included virtually members of the newly elected Democratic national committee, which upon meeting tomorrow will select a permanent chairman.
Before the conference, Senator Reed said that he did not know just what he would discuss.
"I shall do everything in my power in this campaign," the senator said.

Senator Robinson earlier in the day expressed the belief that unusual attention be given the "solid south" in the Democratic campaign in view of the efforts of anti-Smith forces in that normally Democratic area.
year as I have and not feel that they mean their oath and are going to keep it. It is difficult to look into their faces and not feel that they are going to do their work in the world.
"Work! That is the word. There is no easy way to get anything in this world that is worth having. If you get it easy you don't value it. Every fisherman will tell you there's no satisfaction in catching the fish that's easy to catch. He wants the fellow that got away twice."
"And play! Play time is not wasted. But take it temperately.
Time Flies When You Are 40.
"Time seems to hang heavy on your hands sometimes. It will seem so when you start back to school next fall. But wait till you are about 40 years old. Believe me, it goes fast enough then.
"Good minds, good strong bodies—to build those is your concern now. Remember, one's not much good without the other and the thing that will preserve them both is that Scout oath I heard today. Enjoy yourselves here. Back home work, and you'll have the blessing of God on your lives, and with that you can't fail."

FORMER DEPUTY SHERIFF ESCAPES ASSASSINATION

Daniel McFall, former deputy sheriff who was indicted for the murders of George Meehan, George Bucher and Jerry O'Connor, bootleggers, was reported to have been the victim of an attempted assassination at 80th street and Marshfield avenue yesterday.
No official record of the affair was placed on the police books, but detective bureau squads were touring the vicinity all afternoon in hope of catching the killers if they came back to try again.
McFall, a reputed bootlegger, was walking along 80th street when four or five gunmen, riding in an automobile, drew up close to him and opened fire. McFall fell to the ground and was unharmed. Marks of a score or more of bullets were found on a building in front of which he was passing when the shooting started.

GAMBLER HELD WITH $50,000 BANK FUGITIVE

U. S. Charges $25,000 Was Spent in Betting.

Federal authorities last night arrested Richard M. Johnson, alleged gambler, on a warrant, charging him with abetting George W. Anderson in embezzling $50,000 from the Calumet National bank. Police say that Johnson operates a handbook at 127 North Dearborn street, and that he previously was a calculator at the Lincoln Fields track and the South Chicago Kennel club.

According to federal authorities, Anderson has admitted that he lost $25,000 to Johnson in race bets previous to his disappearance last February.
Doubt Tale of Adventure.
Anderson was arrested in a cellar at 533 East 1st street, yesterday and was turned over to the federal authorities for prosecution for violating the federal reserve act. He had been a fugitive since Feb. 18 of this year. Federal authorities last night were inclined to doubt the tale of adventure told by Anderson. His story includes allusions to springtime in Paris and Monte Carlo, and service in the French Foreign legion.
In contrast to his debonair appearance before he disappeared, Anderson when captured, was unshaven, his toes were protruding through holes in his shoes, and he had 36 cents. For a while at the Woodlawn police station he refused to admit his identity, but later told Capt. Joseph O'Connell that he was the fugitive teller.

Tells of Trip Abroad.
Afterward he talked freely. When he had spent all except $7,000, Anderson said, he sailed for Europe. On arriving in Paris he thought of recuperating his losses at the Monte Carlo gambling tables. All of his money gone, Anderson said he enlisted in the French Foreign Legion and served in Algeria. "I got tired of that," he said, "and deserted."
Anderson is 26 years old. His wife is a niece of Emil G. Selp, president of the bank. At the time of his disappearance it was thought that he had committed suicide, as his automobile was found in Grant park near the lake.

DROWNED YOUTH IS IDENTIFIED.
The body recovered from the Des Plaines river near Concordia cemetery by the Forest Park police yesterday was identified as that of Louis Pelican Jr., 19 years old, 4237 Madison avenue, by his father, Louis Pelican Sr.

ASSERT POLL TAX LAW VIOLATION IN VARE'S ELECTION

Philadelphia, Pa., July 10.—(AP)—Testimony tending to show that poll tax payments were made illegally in the election of November, 1922, was presented at today's session of the senate subcommittee on privileges and elections investigating the Vare-Wilson senatorial contest of that year.
William B. Wilson, secretary of labor in the Wilson administration, is contesting the election of William S. Vare, Republican, Wilson alleging fraud.
All of today's session was taken up with the examination of poll tax collectors, some of whom acted as registrars in the registering of voters preliminary to the November election of 1922.
All persons who do not pay a real estate tax are required to pay a poll tax of 25 cents a year before they can vote. The poll tax must be paid by the voter and not by any other person or organization.
Some of the poll tax collectors called today could not identify as their own writing some of the receipts.

Henrici's
Between-times

There are, at Henrici's, no arbitrary, fixed time limits such as elsewhere govern the four meals—breakfast, luncheon, dinner and late supper. Literally, every minute from 7 o'clock in the morning to 12 midnight persons who have very definite ideas as to what and where they should eat enter the doors of Henrici's.

Many such persons have been found to have come from almost unbelievably long distances because of a proper appreciation of food values.

In summer-time, especially, is their good judgment vindicated. For this is the season when the variety and the quality of the foods one consumes are most likely to affect one's well-being. In such weather as Chicago has recently experienced only the most conscientious, skillful care protects, in many foods, that complete wholesomeness so essential to a person's health.

In the highly diversified Henrici menus every morning, noon and night is wealth of suggestion in seasonable foods which appeal alike to appetite and to good common sense.

Why not Henrici's today for breakfast, luncheon, dinner, late supper or "in-between-times"?

SCIENTISTS TURN LABORATORY EYE ON NOMINEES

And Find Campaign One of Great Candidates.

BY ARTHUR EVANS

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Iowa City, Ia., July 10.—(Special.)—Hoover and Smith: Smith and Hoover, just as one chooses, were dissected in the spirit—not the flesh—at a political clinic held tonight by Iowa's commonwealth conference.

At a meeting inside the historic old state capital of Iowa the record of the rival candidates for the presidency, their attainments, their capacities for government, and their attitudes as human beings were given critical analysis.

It was in the heart of the corn belt, part of the region which is platted as the great battle field in the western campaign. College professors from 11 states were in the audience, and Iowa folks and students from near and far.

Prof. Dissect Issues.

And the net result of the analysis by the economists who spoke, it appeared, was a conclusion that platform count for less than ever this time, and that the real battle is, not between two parties, but two personalities.

"Hoover versus Smith is the major issue," was the conclusion of Prof. Francis W. Coker of Ohio State University.

Or to put it the other way about, to suit all sides:

"The issue is Smith versus Hoover," Prof. William R. Munro of Harvard summed it up thus:

"It's the best brace of candidates in my generation. Both candidates have been fifteen years in the public eye and not a slip. Which ever wins will make a great President."

Smith Strong in G. O. P.'s Iowa.

It may be significant or not, but here in rock ribbed Republican Iowa the professors found in their scientific analysis that the receptivity seemed as strong for Gov. Al Smith as for Herbert Hoover.

Prof. Coker of Ohio State University in his weighing of Hoover against Smith and Smith against Hoover discussed among other things prohibition and Tammany.

Prof. Coker argued there was not much real difference between the candidates.

"Smith has expressed himself," he said, "in favor of modification of the enforcement law as to develop upon the general states the primary responsibility in determining the method of enforcing the eighteenth amendment. If that change were made, it would mean relaxing the present legislative standards for enforcement in only a few of the states. Hoover has not expressed himself on that proposition, but I believe he would be opposed. I don't believe there is much likelihood congress would pass the changes proposed by Smith if Smith were elected."

Both Placed in Support Law.

"The main issue should depend, then, upon their respective attitudes on enforcing existing legislation. Both candidates have expressed a determination to enforce existing laws to the best of their ability. There is nothing in the record of Smith to lead us to expect a more inadequate enforcement than we have now."

"Can we expect a more adequate enforcement from Hoover? Not the less he will do what he has not yet done—give some indications as to how he would secure that more adequate enforcement."

"It is unfair to make an issue between candidates with respect to a policy upon which one candidate has said something specific and the other has not. If Hoover actually decides and intends to bring about what obviously we do not have now—namely: vigorous enforcement of prohibition—it is very easy for him to make that clear."

Finds Hypocrisy in Campaign.

On the cry of Tammany and the tiger Prof. Coker said this was "an issue which will be fought by the ignorant or the hypocrite."

"Supporters of either candidate," he said, "who try to make a major issue out of the Tammany associations of Smith or the Harding-Deaghtery associations of Hoover are, in my opinion, the hypocrite."

Why Procrastinate with Deafness?

THERE'S ONLY ONE WAY to find hearing, and the health and happiness that go with it. And that's to look for it. Each day that you put off the search is only another lost day of nervous irritation and mental embarrassment.

So why not look for hearing today? And why not start the quest in the private consultation rooms of the

New Acousticon

We honestly believe that you will find it. As so many others have, through the use of the New Acousticon. It's a scientific hearing aid, with a tiny receiver, or earpiece, no larger than a silver dime.

TEN-DAY FREE TRIAL

Take the instrument home with you if you wish. Test it for ten days. Be sure that it's the sort of hearing aid you've always hoped to find. Learn how clearly, how distinctly it transmits sounds to your normal ears. Probably you'll keep it, but if you don't, you may return it without charge or obligation.

If you find a call impossible, merely and your name and address to Dept. 75, for a free home test.

uninformed, ill advised, or hypocritical." "Mr. Smith has been for thirty years an official of Tammany Hall, and Tammany Hall has some extremely bad marks in its record. Smith, I believe, has not specifically and publicly condemned the graft of that organization."

"Hoover was a member of the cabinet all during the extensive and admitted corruption of the Harding-Deaghtery-Fall regime and also during the Coolidge regime, which in the opinion not only of most Democrats but also of numerous independents and Republicans, has not been notably resourceful and aggressive in purifying the administration of the remnants of the Harding-Fall regime."

By the Business Yards.

As to general attitude to business, Prof. Coker analyzed the two candidates thus:

"Smith has done nothing to create any grounds whatever for a fear that he will advocate any sort of hasty, ill considered, extreme measures of economic reconstruction. And Hoover has done several things to show he is not an unquestioning defender of vested interests and not characterized by that worshipping respect for the business man that the present administration seems to have."

The economist said Hoover is more concerned with "the production of wealth than with its distribution," while "Smith is strong for the economic under dog, the common man."

BOY DROWNED IN LAGOON.

Hoover White, colored, 7 years old, 1919 Archer avenue, was drowned yesterday afternoon while swimming in the lagoon at 234 street and the Illinois Central railroad tracks.

The name of Senator J. Thomas Hefflin was presented to the Prohibitionists by a delegate who said Smith must be defeated at any cost.

forces and pulled into the power trust as the motive force operating them.

Much of the time of most of the delegates was taken up to committee work although the committees were small—one having only five members—because few of the states had enough delegates to go around on the list of assignments.

The committee that attracted most attention, as had been expected, was the platform committee. That body worked late into the night when it was reported to have agreed on its first three planks. It was said the first one will deal with the power trust, the second with the agricultural problem and the third with labor injunctions.

Dr. B. E. F. Frug of Harrisburg, Pa., was chosen permanent chairman. "We pray to be guided by the line of righteousness and not along the line of expediency," he declared and there were many who chanted "Amen." "I am not opposed to expediency when expediency does not transgress principle," he continued. "I am opposed to expediency simply for the purpose of winning."

Calls Old Parties Partyistic.

"The leaves and fishes to be obtained by the party is the thing that even if there must be bloodshed and the cost by our lives." He was immediately denounced as a bigot by a delegate who wants Hoover in power.

Clifton W. Howard, president of the National United committee, a law enforcement group, took up most of the evening session of the Prohibitionist convention with a plea in behalf of Mr. Hoover and in condemnation of Smith. He advocated a delay in nomination until later in the campaign, his idea being to give authority to a committee to make nominations or not make them, as they decide, in September. Another delegate suggested nominations with a view of withdrawal in September if the best interests of prohibition so suggest.

Dr. B. E. F. Frug of Harrisburg, Pa., was chosen permanent chairman. "We pray to be guided by the line of righteousness and not along the line of expediency," he declared and there were many who chanted "Amen." "I am not opposed to expediency when expediency does not transgress principle," he continued. "I am opposed to expediency simply for the purpose of winning."

Calls Old Parties Partyistic.

"The leaves and fishes to be obtained by the party is the thing that controls both the old parties. They are not partyistic. They are partyistic. "I'm just as much opposed to Al Smith as any one here. I am of the opinion our country has been rejecting God for so long that God may give us Al Smith as a judgment as he gave Saul to Israel."

H. R. Harner of Pittsburgh was the first one to have an opportunity of presenting his views to the Prohibitionists. He denounced the Republican party for its nonenforcement of prohibition during the last seven years.

"The present administration did not enforce the law," he charged. "It betrayed the cause of prohibition. So did the former administration. The nomination of Al Smith is due to this base betrayal of prohibition by the two Republican administrations."

The Jefferson-Lincoln league had representatives in each of the other conventions who were trying to form a union and a third party. The name of United States Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska was mentioned as a possible candidate on whom there might be general agreement by those who are against both Hoover and Smith.

HOYT LEAPED INTO OCEAN BECAUSE GIRL DARED HIM

"I Was Only Joking," She Tells Reporters.

New York, July 10.—[Special.]—Quanta of a school girl, 17, caused Marcus Hoyt, 29, of Washington and brother of Nancy Hoyt, the novelist, to leap overboard the night of July 8 from the French liner Rochambeau in mid-ocean. It was learned when the liner docked here today.

After his rescue Hoyt was confined in the ship's hospital for the remainder of the voyage.

Declines to Comment.

Hoyt declined to meet newspaper men as they boarded the Rochambeau at quarantine. They sent a note asking him if he wished to "clarify the conflicting stories" regarding his rash act. He sent back a note that read: "Anything I might say would only make it more conflicting."

It was Miss Elsie Eckenrode of Washington whose taunts inspired Hoyt to leap overboard. She spiritedly told newspaper men of how she had dared Hoyt to jump.

"I was only joking," she said, her eyes shining. "And when he did jump I was just too astonished for words."

"It was a wonderfully brave thing for him to do, don't you think so?"

Didn't Share Her Enthusiasm.

Newspaper men didn't share Miss Eckenrode's enthusiasm, and that soiled her.

"Of course," she added, somewhat solemnly, "asking a man to jump overboard in the middle of the ocean is not the thing for one to do, is it, now?"

She and Hoyt were "just shipboard acquaintances—nothing more," Miss Eckenrode emphasized.

She is the daughter of the former minister from Sweden to the U. S. for years, the late Wilhelm A. F. Eckenrode. She is expected to be among the debutantes next winter in Washington.

LINDY VISITS US FOR AN HOUR AND THEN SAILS OFF

Cdr. Charles A. Lindbergh landed at the municipal airport last night, unannounced even to the field authorities and managed to keep his identity a secret from all save his friends and a watcher or two. He left less than an hour later for an unknown destination.

"We're just flying around," he explained, though his mechanic declared that they were on their way from New York to the west coast.

Flying a new Curtis Falcon biplane which was designated by the numbers 1 here as an experimental plane of the department of commerce, "Slim" landed at 7:15, climbed from the cabin, and with his mechanic hurried from the field to a restaurant for a sandwich.

Authorities at the airport knew nothing of the arrival until the air idol crawled from his plane. He talked with some friends in the hangar of the National Air Transport and then left the field.

122 NICARAGUAN REBELS GIVE UP GUNS TO MARINES

Desert Ranks of Leader on Honduran Border.

BY LOUIS ROSENTHAL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
MANAGUA, July 10.—The greatest bloodless victory the American marine forces have won since their occupation of Nicaragua was gained Saturday when 122 bandits voluntarily surrendered to Lieut. Col. Joseph Russell, at Ocotal, and asked for amnesty.

Nineteen of those giving up their arms came direct from the forces of Jose Leon Diaz, famous Honduran smuggler, who operates along the Nicaraguan border. The remainder came from the forces of subchiefs of Diaz. The policy of granting rights of citizenship to bandits who give up their arms is proving very satisfactory. It has been learned that many of those fighting in the ranks of Gen. Sandino's soldiery have been forced by circumstances to leave their homes and support the bandit chieftain.

Show Good Will to Marines.

A touching demonstration of good will towards marine occupation was extended by Nicaraguan citizens of Telenepeca on the Fourth of July, when the small detachment stationed there broke to find the grates of the private James Glaser and Lenton Russell decorated with wreaths and garlands. This expression of sympathy came as a complete surprise to the little marine garrison, and they immediately expressed sincere appreciation to the townspeople. The Nicaraguans said the act was a token of thanks for the protection of the mar-

KEGEL DOUBTS ILLINOIS DEATHS BY POISON MILK

Dr. Arnold H. Kegel, city health commissioner, and Dr. Henry C. Becker, chief of the division of dairy products of the health department, returned to Chicago by automobile early this morning after a hurried trip to La Salle and Spring Valley, Ill., to investigate two deaths and several cases of illness supposed to have been caused by poison milk.

Through Dr. Arlington Aires, health commissioner of La Salle county, Dr. Kegel reported that as far as he could determine the sickness was not caused by infected milk. He said that apparently one member of the family of Nicholas Conway, La Salle county farmer, had contracted septic sore throat and the infection had been communicated to other members.

The illness caused the deaths of two sons of Conway, Robert and Boniface.

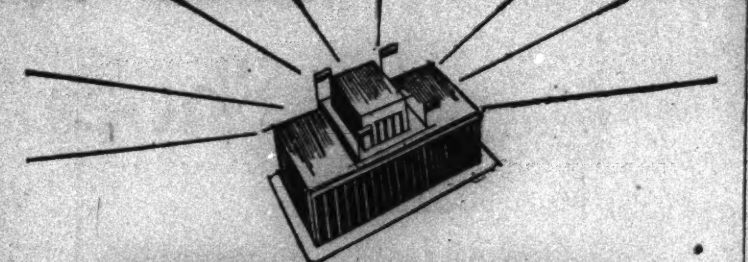

Three other children, Stella, Corinne, and Edward, were reported recovering. Before leaving Chicago yesterday Dr. Kegel asserted there is little danger of a poison milk epidemic in the city because of the strict enforcement of pasteurization.

DEATH TOLL 16 IN EAST.

Boston, Mass., July 10.—[Special.]—All the resources of the state were loosed today to combat the epidemic of septic sore throat in the Berkshires which today spread from the town of Lee to North Adams and Williamstown. Four more victims died today, bringing the total to 16. The malady is now affecting more than 600 persons at Lee. The disease has been definitely traced to contaminated milk.

ROB TWO OF $175 IN STORE.

George Brastanski, owner of a meat market at 2743 West 55th street, was robbed of $60, and Fred Bloden, 7629 Stewart avenue, a truck driver, who was in the store, was robbed of $113 by two armed men yesterday.

YOUNG GREEN TO LEAD WORLD AD MEN ASSOCIATION

Milwaukeean Nominated at Convention.

BULLETIN.

Detroit, Mich., July 10.—(P)—Minneapolis was selected tonight as next year's convention city after a bitter fight which was followed by announcement that the action would be protested to the board of governors.

Detroit, Mich., July 10.—(Special)—Charles C. Younggreen of Milwaukee was nominated today to be president of the International Advertising Association. Younggreen was nominated by the newly elected officers of the advertising commission after Francis H. Sisson of New York, vice president of the Guaranty Trust company, who had been prominently mentioned for the office, declined to accept the nomination.

Mr. Younggreen is a member of the firm of Klein-Van Pietersen-Dunlap-Younggreen, Inc. His name, along with the state of nominations prepared by the advertising commission, will be placed before the full convention of the I. A. A. at 4 p. m. tomorrow.

The commission also placed in nomination the names of W. Frank McClure of Chicago, for secretary, and H. R. Swartz, president of the New York Advertising club, for treasurer. Mr. McClure is vice president of the Albert Frank company, Chicago. The names of forty nominees for district governors in the twelve districts will also be presented by the commission tomorrow. One candidate will be elected for each district.

No "Space" Wasted.

Today's schedule was enough to daunt the most hardened of convention goers. There were two breakfasts, a general session with a round half dozen of speeches, three luncheons, nineteen divisional meetings with seventy-five speeches, a tea, two dinners, a radio meeting and a lecture.

Presiding at the general session in the Masonic Temple was Homer J. Buckley of Chicago, president of the Chicago Advertising council.

The first speaker was E. St. Elmo Lewis, Detroit Sales counsel, whose subject was "The Changing Job in the Advertising Department."

Roger W. Babson addressed the luncheon meeting of the International Association of Newspaper Advertising Executives in the grand ballroom of the Book-Cadillac hotel at noon.

Hear of German Novelty Ads.

In the afternoon there was a host of section meetings. Among the speeches were those of Otto Wilhelm Wandt of Hamburg, Germany, on "German Novelty Advertising," before the Advertising Specialty association; of Commander H. S. H. Ellis of London, England, on "Industrial Marketing in Great Britain," before the joint meeting of the Associated Business Papers, Inc., and the National Industrial Advertising association.

OBREGON TO VISIT U. S., CUBA AND CENTRAL AMERICA

Seeks Data to Aid Him as President.

BY JOHN CORNYN.

MEXICO CITY, July 10.—President-Elect Alvaro Obregon will visit the United States, Cuba, and Central America before assuming the presidency Dec. 1, according to a statement by Aurelio Manrique, his political manager, today.

Gen. Obregon will attempt to familiarize himself with conditions of the countries surrounding Mexico and make intimate contact with the rulers with whom he will have to deal during his six years in office. The visit, he believes, will help him shape the foreign policy of the government, which he is now outlining.

President Calles, before assuming office, visited Europe and brought back ideas which he attempted to implant in Mexico during his term.

Gen. Obregon believes the problems which he is to face during his presidency have to do largely with relations with foreign nations and reconstruction at home. Both are in many cases interdependent, that is, success in regenerating Mexico depends largely on amicable international relations out of which must come facilities for the restoration of Mexico's wealth and consequent increase in the income of the government.

CONTEMPLATE 15 STORY BUILDING FOR WEST LAKE

A fifteen story building to house the activities of the Pappas & Alex company, restaurant outfitters, is being considered for a site 70x125 feet at 163-71 West Lake street. The Lake Investment Building corporation has just been organized to take over the ninety-nine year leasehold held by George J. A. J. and D. E. Alex. This trio comprises the personnel of the building corporation.

The terms of the original lease, dated May 1, 1923, provide that a modern improvement be erected within ten years and plans are being considered for the erection of the structure mentioned. A seven story building now occupies the site. No architect has been selected. McKinley & Price were attorneys for the incorporators.

TOE OF WHEAT IS STRENGTHENED BY RUST REPORTS

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Discovery of black rust in the spring wheat fields in Saskatchewan and Manitoba as well as in the American northwest with fairly general evening up for the government crop estimates due after the close gave the wheat market a much stronger undertone yesterday. While there was an early dip there was a rally of 2 1/2¢ from the inside with the close at the top at net gains of 1 1/2¢.

Corn was easier early, but the liquidation so much in evidence on Monday was absent and the market rallied on short covering and in sympathy with wheat and finished 1/8¢ higher, while oats were unchanged to 1/16¢ higher and wheat 2 1/2¢ higher.

Technical Position Strengthened. Liquidation in wheat was noticeable by its absence and there was a rally in the hedging pressure from the southwest. Technical position of the market had been materially strengthened by the decline of around 10¢ from the high of last week and with fair local and commission house buying the rally was easily attained. While there have been rumors of rust being found in Canada, the reports during the day of it being found on the head stem were the first of the season and with a heavy stand, the trade fears that damage is possible.

Recent decline in American prices has put hard winter at the rule corner in line for export business, and 50,000 bu were sold late Monday, with the bid up 1/16¢ from the recent low. In the last two weeks Buenos Aires has gone from a discount of 5¢ under Chicago to a fractional premium. Winnipeg was 1/16¢ higher for the day, while Liverpool closed 1/16¢ lower. Movement in the southwest remains heavy, with the four leading Kansas points receiving 1,698 cars for the day, but the grain sent with a good demand, mills buying freely, and there were reports of a liberal flour business.

Less Pressure on Corn.

Nearly deliveries of corn sold at a new low on the present downturn early, with September within 1/16¢ of the inside figure of the season, but there was a lack of the aggressive selling of the previous day and locals were more disposed to cover shorts and even up for the government report that to extend commitments. Weather conditions remain ideal for the growing crop. Country offerings to arrive were fair, with purchases of $3,000 bu, while shipping sales were 125,000 bu.

July oats acted tight and advanced 1/16¢ over the low point at the opening on scattered buying, while shorts and commission houses bought the deferred deliveries. September and December sold at a new low on the crop early. Foreigners were on the buying side of rice, and there was also talk of export business at the seaboard.

CASH GRAIN NEWS

Export demand at the seaboard was slow, but foreigners apparently holding off awaiting the government report. Sales in all positions were fairly estimated at 300,000 bu wheat with a little rice. There were 30,000 bu No. 1 hard winter sold at the rule late Monday.

Official receipts of grain at Chicago Tuesday: Wheat, 16 cars; corn, 120 cars; oats, 20 cars; barley, 7 cars.

If You'd Remain Young, Avoid That Look of Fatigue

There is a young woman of fine persuasion who has earned her early reputation by approaching her friends with the disconcerting greeting: "My, how tired you look!"

No matter how secure you may feel in your own recent mirror estimation, let some one hand you that little greeting and you begin to wilt. The young woman referred to must be versed in female psychology in order to use that ruse to rattle her rivals. It ruffles a. Every woman knows that if she looks tired she's looking anything but her best.

Happily, however, the old order of things is not a prevalent one these days. On the whole, women are given to say in greeting, "How well you look!" Which, if you happen to hear that you are tired looking, is a bit of a tonic and a "warmer" toward friend flatterer.

A tired looking woman isn't the exact equivalent of a plain looking one. But tiredness as it is photographed in drawn face, drooping lips, and lusterless eyes, certainly never added any charm to one's appearance. And somehow, today, there isn't any place for it in a woman's program of looking her snappiest every minute.

There may be a physical reason for the tired look, and again there may be a reason bound up in the mental viewpoint. Perhaps there is something wrong with the internal workings of one's body that a physician could readily diagnose and prescribe for. Again, it may be from trying to do too many things—overcrowding of work and pleasure hours and not letting sleep get in its healing work.

That common expression, "old and tired looking," was coined to express exactly what happens when you are weary looking. Old! That's the real sting of it.

No one has to look it—for long! The good old reliable youth formula—sleep, fresh air, exercise of the right sort, outdoor life, and mental stimuli which you can subscribe to in refreshing social contact and some definite hobby or interest that will take you completely out of yourself—these are free to all.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

W. R. K.: DAILY EXERCISE IN the open air whets the appetite and quickens the digestion. In fact, exercise is essential to good digestion and to the proper circulation of the blood. This is proved by the fact that few people whose occupation calls for physical exertion suffer from digestive disturbances.

GLADYS M.: THE CRUST THAT form on the eyelids may be soaked off with a weak solution of bicarbonate of soda. Dip a piece of absorbent cotton into the solution and apply.

Virginia, 2 1/2 years old, had been cured of being afraid of thunder by telling her that the thunder brought the pretty flowers.

She called me at three o'clock one morning, when the clouds were rumbling and the lightning flashing. I turned the light on in her room to find her head under the covers. She said: "Mother, we don't need any more flowers!"

One winter afternoon when we were having our first blizzard of the season my little son, barely 3 years old, looked out of the window at the first snowflake he ever remembered seeing, and said in an excited voice, "Oh mother! Is this weather?"

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.
Needs Rag for Kitchen.

"Does one of your readers have a used congoleson or rag for Mrs. D. She has four young children and it is impossible for her to buy a covering for her kitchen floor, although she needs one badly. Mrs. D. is in poor health and her husband has deserted the family."

Perhaps you are replacing the linoleum on your kitchen floor while it still has a bit of wear left in it. If it is not too greatly worn, won't you pass it on to this mother?

SMALL STATIONS PROTEST ORDER TO GET OFF AIR

WQJ Contends It Serves
90% of Chicago Fans.

Washington, D. C., July 10.—[Special.]—The federal radio commission divided itself into two sections today in order to expedite the hearings granted to the representatives of 162 broadcasting stations ordered to quit the air on Aug. 1 in the interests of better radio service.

One of the principal cases to be heard today was that presented by the representatives of WQJ of Chicago which is operated by the Chicago Daily News and owned by a subsidiary of the Calumet Baking Powder company. Thomas L. Marshall, who handled the case before the commission, placed William S. Hedges of the Chicago Daily News and K. K. Bell, vice president of the Calumet Baking Powder company on the stand to support his contention that the station should be allowed to remain on the air.

Make Plea for WQJ.
In presenting his testimony, Mr. Hedges told the commission that his newspaper had entered into a contract with the baking powder company in order to have more time on the air. He stated that the Daily News has a lease under which it will operate the plant until March 1, 1931, at which time it can be purchased and one of the five radio stations in Chicago which reach 90 per cent of the city's radio fans. Mr. Hedges stated in response to questions that Chicago and New York furnish the best talent for radio broadcasting, and that it is one reason why this station should be allowed to remain on the air.

Charge Favoritism to Chalmers.
Among other stations represented at today's hearings was WHEB of Boston, Ill. Matthew Mills and Ellwood L. Williams appeared in its behalf.

A resolution presented to the commission today by the Independent Broadcasters' association, declared there is room on the air for all existing broadcasting stations. The charge was made that chain stations are "permitted to use as many as twenty-five frequency bands for the same program, while an effort is being made to cancel the licenses of a large number of independent community stations."

TONS OF GRAVEL FALL; BOY KILLED, TWO MEN INJURED

William Lumsden, 11, was killed, and Joe Wheeler and William Sims were injured yesterday when an elevated wooden hopper collapsed under the weight of tons of gravel which the victims were loading into trucks near Zion City.

Lumsden was sitting on the seat of his gravel truck underneath the hopper and was crushed to death. He attended Waukegan Township High school during the school term and was spending his vacation working on the Camp Logan road, one mile north of Zion City.

At the Victory Memorial hospital in Waukegan, where the other victims were taken, it was said Sims' injuries might prove fatal.

Victor Co. Buys Hollywood Site to Make Talking Films
Camden, N. J., July 10.—(AP)—A large plot of ground in Hollywood, Calif., has been purchased by the Victor Talking Machine company as a site for a plant in which it will carry on its work of sound synchronization for films, the company announced today.

Work will start immediately on a record pressing plant and in the near future a studio will be erected in which actual scenes from photoplays may be "shot" at the same time voices of players or other sound accompaniments are being recorded.
